Reflections from the Rectory

By The Rev. Dr. Joy A. Rose, TSSF

The Rev. Dr. Joy A. Rose

Dear Friends in Christ,

It's a bright and noticeably cooler morning... one of those lovely early Fall days that has me – and I would guess you also – pondering exactly where we are in life and musing about what lies ahead. Oh sure, there are plenty of activities coming up just around the corner... The Blessing of the Animals, beginning visitations to those in assisted living by our ministry group, preparing for a Baptism, and making plans for a special All Saints Service, an ecumenical Thanksgiving service, and yes, even for Christmas services. The Book Club is up and running, Sunday School has started, Tuesday night Bible study has begun, and, although it had a shaky start, a service of healing has begun on Wednesday mornings. In seminary I remember being told that a priest always lives at least two months in the future. It's true. Things that happen effortlessly take lots of planning and preparation.

But ... for the moment, I'm sitting at my computer staring out the window, with my hands wrapped around my ever-present cup of coffee. Some of the leaves have started to fall, one or two at a time. It's quiet enough so that I can hear them hit the ground. In watching leaf after leaf fall, I saw something I've not noticed before ... the leaves that are more stiff, dried out or curled up, fall down more straight and land with a crunch, while the leaves that are more open waft down gently and land more softly.

I realize that this is a metaphor for the reality of our spiritual lives... Leaves fall. We fall. There is falling in our lives, and this falling – though sometimes difficult and painful – is useful, even necessary, in our cycle of life. It is an opportunity for grace, for realizing better ways to do things, for learning and growth. Our falling (s) is sometimes caused by something specific, perhaps even by something we've done. Other times there's nothing we could – or even should – have done to prevent it.

Leaves that have held on tightly to the end are drier, stiffer. They may succeed in hanging on longer, but they are sure to fall more harshly in the end. In the same way, we are often tempted to grasp onto things, onto people, onto traditions (“we’ve always done it this way” or “we’ve never done it this way”) for safety, security, and “for dear life.” When we’re holding on tight, the grasping causes our spirits to draw inward and we become rigid. So when the falling happens – which it pretty much always does, sooner or later – the fall is harsher, and we may feel betrayed because we’ve tried so hard.

Leaves that let go sooner, still somewhat fresh and open, float down more easily on the unseen air and land more gently. They still fall, but the process isn’t as harsh, they don’t land so hard. In the same way, we can – and often should – let go when the wind of change pushes at us. When we are called to act, or do, or change something in a way that we have never done before. It’s not easy.... but we do not need to fight the change. The Spirit of God who is all around us is trustworthy and will bear us up even as we fall...easing, guiding, cushioning.

We are entering the season of Fall. The winds of change are whirling around us – socially, economically, politically, personally, and in our faith lives. God will sustain us through all of the changes. “Fall” happens regularly in the cycle of life. The important questions are not about the past – Whose fault is it? How could we have avoided it? Should we have done things differently? The important questions are about the future – Where are the possibilities? How can we move into them? What is God up to and how can we best live into His plans for each and every one of us? How can we best live into His plans for St. Luke’s?

It’s Fall. It’s a time to let go and trust God. It’s a time to see and believe in the good work God is doing for us and through us. Let us be like those leaves that let go easily and are borne down gently. Let us rest trusting fully in God and being readied for renewal in His Spirit.

Blessings,

Mother Joy+

New Midweek Service

Join us on Wednesdays for a midweek Healing Eucharist in the chapel, with individual prayers and anointing for anyone who wishes to attend.

These services will begin at 11:30 A.M. to be followed at 12:15 P.M. by an informal brown bag lunch and Bible study in the Parish Hall. The service is open to anyone who would like prayers for healing or anointing (they do not have to be members of St. Luke's, so feel free to bring along a friend). The Bible study and luncheon that follow are optional...but offer a nice way to share faith, fellowship and food for those who wish to stay.

To hew out of a mountain of despair, a stone of hope

Posted by Mark Beckwith on September 21, 2016

Bombs in Seaside and Elizabeth. Thank God no one was hurt. Dumpster bombs in Chelsea. Thank God no one was killed. These incidents are close to home, and some of the highly reactive political rhetoric only ramps up the fear – and a common response is to either seal oneself off in a silo or hide under a rock.

And yet.

There are other responses – and in the last week I have had the privilege of witnessing and hearing several of them. While in Detroit at our House of Bishops meeting, a group of us had a chance to go to Flint and hear from the mayor, state senate minority leader and the lead local pediatrician – in an Episcopal Church, talk about their solidarity and commitment in the wake of that city's devastating water crisis.

The day before, the bishops were the inaugural audience of a four minute video by Presiding Bishop Michael Curry, who eloquently and powerfully describes the Jesus movement as "loving, liberating and life-giving." (Watch the Presiding Bishop's video here.)

A bishops writing group put forth a short and compelling statement to the church that draws on the power and persuasion of the Gospel: "Let prophets tell the truth in love. Let reconcilers move boldly into places of division and disagreement. Let evangelists inspire us to tell the story of Jesus in new and compelling ways. Let leaders lead with courage and joy." (Full text, with videos in English and Spanish, available here.) Each of us has gifts that fall into one of those challenges.

And then I was present at two "Listening Table" gatherings in the diocese (I was remotely connected to a third, which took place while I was in Detroit). Some 200 people from 56 churches across the diocese came to listen to scripture, to each other – and to the Holy Spirit, all of which invited and inspired those who attended to continue the journey, following the guidance and mercy of the living Christ.

In his "I have a dream speech" in 1963, Martin Luther King, Jr. paraphrased 2 Corinthians 4:8: "to hew out of a mountain of despair, a stone of hope."

That is what I see. That is what I see others seeing and how they are responding with life-giving commitments.

And oh sweet Jesus, does it help – and offer a way forward.

For all that has been.
For all that is.
For all that is yet to be.

We give you thanks, O Lord!

Celebrate St. Francis on October 2: THE BLESSING OF THE ANIMALS

Dress down, bring your pets and invite your neighbors to do the same for a very special blessing at St. Luke's on Sunday, October 2. All creatures great and small, whether they are furry, finned, feathered, or scaled, are welcome to come with their human companions to the 10:30 service which honors the life and works of St. Francis. No one will mind if pets add their voices to the service along with the singing.

Our new Priest in Charge, the Rev. Dr. Joy A. Rose, TSSF, a Franciscan herself, will officiate at the service and as "blesser" of the animals.

For the safety of all the animals it is recommended that those pets that might be skittery or nervous in new surroundings come leashed or in some type of carrier.

The service, which is one of the most popular of liturgies the year, offers special prayers in honor of St. Francis of Assisi and celebrates the beauty of the natural world, especially the gifts offered to us by our animal companions.

At the offering, St. Luke's will also gratefully accept donations of dry/canned cat and dog food for donation to a local animal rescue organization.

A special reception — with treats for pets and their people and a time for fellowship — will take place in the Parish Hall after the service.

St. Luke's will neither be the beginning nor ending point for this year's CROP Walk. If YOU want to walk, on Oct. 16 starting at 1:30 P.M., contact Janet Beddoe at 201-894-1727. Or you may still donate to the cause. Learn more about this vital event here:

A Baptism at St. Luke's on October 9

On Sunday, October 9, our 10:30 A.M. service will open with the ancient rite of Baptism. In the waters of baptism we are lovingly adopted by God into God's family, which we call the Church, and given God's own life to share. We are reminded that nothing can separate us from God's love in Christ.

Please come out to witness and support the Kaller family — Paul, Louise, Debbie and Adina — as they present Rachel Maya for Baptism, and, on her behalf, commit her to new life in Christ.

There is one body and one Spirit;
There is one hope in God's call to us;
One Lord, one Faith, one Baptism;
One God and Father of all.

ECW Update: ANNUAL HOLIDAY FAIR

Just a reminder to the congregation about our ANNUAL HOLIDAY FAIR on Saturday, November 19th:

Next Sunday, October 9th, we will have a sign-up sheet for working at the different booths on Fair day. Please keep this day aside for our getting together. We have a fun time and all our neighbors enjoy coming to this event and purchasing things. We think that our neighbors would miss us and the Fair if we didn't have it.

Also, in the next months, when you are doing your fall housecleaning, keep the Fair in mind for donating new, used-but-in-good-condition items. If you don't think that it is in almost perfect shape, please do not donate it. Also please – no stuffed toys, except new. We still need books because people love to read.

Thank you!

Linda Brescia, Jo Stephenson and Helen Shaw.

Making Hats & Scarves for The Seamen's Church Institute

Once again this year, St. Luke's will participate in our Diocesan effort on behalf of Christmas at Sea, The Seamen's Church Institute's year-round program to make life a little warmer for mariners who are miles from home, whether working "at sea" in international waters or those who are working on inland waterways here in the United States.

We are invited to knit —or crochet— hats and scarves.

To learn what types of garments are acceptable, what yarns to use and to download patterns, please visit The Seamen's Church Institute website at <http://seamenschurch.org/christmas-at-sea>.

Our collection will be received in mid-January during our Diocesan Convention. Stay tuned for more news about this project.

St. Luke's will again participate in the American Heart Association's program "Little Hats, Big Hearts." Volunteers around the country are celebrating American Heart Month by knitting red hats for all babies born in February at participating hospitals.

The program helps raise awareness of heart disease, the number one killer of Americans, and congenital heart defects, the most common type of birth defect in the country.

Patterns are available online. Hats may be created from any pattern as long as they are red.

Our deadline for finished work is January 1, since Heidi Plinio, who is coordinating our involvement in the program, will need to ship them to the intake center in Connecticut.

We all love our coffee. Or tea. Or whatever beverage. The fellowship is great. So sign up in the Parish Hall to host. Don't want to do it alone? Ask another parishioner to help!

In love we find out who we want to be. In war we find out who we are.

FRANCE, 1939

In the quiet village of Carriveau, Vianne Mauriac says goodbye to her husband, Antoine, as he heads for the Front. She doesn't believe that the Nazis will invade France ... but invade they do, in droves of marching soldiers, in caravans of trucks and tanks, in planes that fill the skies and drop bombs upon the innocent. When a German captain requisitions Vianne's home, she and her daughter must live with the enemy or lose everything. Without food or money or hope, as danger escalates all around them, she is forced to make one impossible choice after another to keep her family alive.

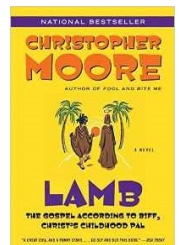

Vianne's sister, Isabelle, is a rebellious 18-year-old girl, searching for purpose with all the reckless passion of youth. While thousands of Parisians march into the unknown terrors of war, she meets G  tan, a partisan who believes the French can fight the Nazis from within France, and she falls in love as only the young can ... completely. But when he betrays her, Isabelle joins the Resistance and never looks back, risking her life time and again to save others.

With courage, grace and powerful insight, bestselling author Kristin Hannah captures the epic panorama of WWII and illuminates an intimate part of history seldom seen: the women's war.

Pluck the Turkey

O.K. so what's up with THIS? A turkey on the pulpit? LOL Mother Joy is surely having fun — she made the turkey herself, complete with Pilgrim hat and shoes!

The idea is, it's a FOODraiser. Pluck a feather, give a food gift so that we can collect enough nonperishables by Nov. 13, our normal ingathering Sunday, for CFA to put baskets together so families in need may enjoy a real meal for Thanksgiving.

More to come... See Page 9

Christmas Pageant

This year, in a departure from past tradition, we will have our Annual Sunday School Christmas Pageant on Christmas Eve as the opening of our 5:30 P.M. Eucharist service .

We hope all the little shepherds and angels and other participants will be able to come out for this beloved event. Older children are invited to be readers for each tableau.

We will also look to open the opportunity to "star" in the pageant beyond the members of the parish to those in the neighborhood. More to come.

Yup, it's an experiment. We are daring to take the Gospel message beyond our walls...

We Did St. Francis Proud with The Blessing of the Animals!

From Janet's granddaughter's cat to Celia's dog to a full array of beautiful pets (and their equally beautiful people!), we had a great turnout and spirit for our celebration of the life of St. Francis and the wonder of the natural world in which we live.

We also mustered an ingathering of pet supplies for a local animal welfare organization — which turned out to be a different one than we originally thought we would support...

... We were delighted to see Fr. Paul Gulya return to worship with us, especially since he is an avid animal advocate/rescue volunteer with the animal welfare organization he supports. He'll be driving to Georgia next week as part of a caravan to rescue adoptable animals from the rural county shelters that by law cannot keep them more than five days before they are euthanized. We were thrilled to offer our pet supplies collection to him and we ask, if you did not contribute and would still like to do so, to visit www.AnimalAidUSA.org.
